

Introduction for Sharon Delaney McCloud

Sharon Delaney McCloud calls herself a citizen of the world. She's the daughter of Irish immigrants whose adventures led to them to Kenya and Tanzania where Sharon was born and lived as a young child.

Her travels took her around the world as a member of the Department of Defense's U.S.O. program before Sharon began her career as an Emmy Award winning television journalist. Now, she leads Walk West, a digital marketing agency in Raleigh where she heads up the firm's professional development practice and a video team that creates content for local and national brands.

As the mother of three, Sharon considers that job her most important as she attempts to find balance every day in our fast-paced lives. She's a TEDx Speaker, cancer survivor, Olympic Torch Bearer and a communications pro who inspires audiences on amplifying their impact in business and life.

Please welcome, Sharon.
